

Use a smartphone as your lockbox key!

Many agents now use a smartphone or PDA to beam open Supra iBoxes. You can, too, when you subscribe to eKEY service from GE Security! Check with your Board, Association, or MLS for availability of eKEY service in your area.

What are smartphones? What are PDA's?

PDA is short for Personal Digital Assistant, commonly called "PalmPilot." A PDA consolidates your calendar, contacts and other paper systems into one small device you'll always have with you in your pocket or purse.

A smartphone is a PDA that is also a cell phone. Most smartphones include high-speed Internet access, email and other real estate-friendly features, including camera, calculators voice memo capability and more.

What is eKEY service?

There are two levels of eKEY service. eKEY Basic allows you to open and program your own iBoxes. eKEY Professional adds MLS listing information, maps, agent roster and showing details to your device. With eKEY Professional, you can do business any time, anywhere. See feature comparison chart below.

How does an eKEY update?

If you are using a smartphone with wireless Internet access, your eKEY will update by itself overnight. If you do not have wireless Internet access, you may update your smartphone through your PC. If you have eKEY service on your PDA, you may update with your PC over your high-speed Internet connection using the factory-supplied PDA cable or cradle.
